WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF A COVER LETTER?
A cover letter is a formal letter that complements a resume or other application materials. It allows you to introduce yourself to an organization and demonstrate effective written communication by expressing your interest and showcasing your education, experience, and skills. It is important that this document does not duplicate your resume, but instead highlights your accomplishments, strengths, and transferrable skills and how you will add value to the organization. A cover letter is an important part of the job search process and should be tailored to the position for which you are applying. Cover letters are typically one page and 3-4 paragraphs. Save your cover letter as a PDF before sending it.

QUESTIONS TO ASK YOURSELF BEFORE BUILDING YOUR COVER LETTER
- What are three reasons why you'd like to work in this specific position at this organization?
- What is the organization's mission statement and/or values?
- How can you tie in your past experiences to fit in with the position description?
- How does this job and organization align with your goals?
- In the oval below, brainstorm what related experiences would demonstrate your fit for the job. Examples: Internships, volunteering, past work experience, clinical/field experience, group project experience, leadership, and campus involvement. Refer to the job description and what you know about the organization and/or field.
Dear (Contact person’s name, hiring manager, selection committee, or position):

Opening Section: Who You Are & Why You Are Applying

• Name the job for which you are applying and how you learned about it
• Briefly highlight your education, skills, and experience
• If appropriate, mention the name of the person who referred you to the organization

Second Section: Your Skills & Qualifications

• Discuss the skills and strengths you bring to the job, and explicitly connect them to the tasks of the position
• Provide brief examples of a few related achievements or experiences, discussing how it can transfer to the position
• Even if you haven’t done the exact things the job entails, you can show your preparedness through transferable skills

Third Section: You & the Company

• Demonstrate that you’ve researched the company by incorporating information such as their mission statement, motto, services or products and relating it to your previous experience, goals, and why you are interested in working for them
• State why you would be a good fit for the organization, emphasizing how you can help the organization reach its goals
• Some organizations may have a focus on helping employees grow, but overall focus on what you offer, not what you want

Closing Section: Wrapping Up

• Very briefly restate any important themes, creatively tying them together into a cohesive conclusion
• State that you are available for a personal interview at your reader’s convenience
• Make it easy for the person to contact you: list your email address, as well as your phone number. Even if this
• information is on the resume, list it here again, as you do not want to make the employer search for a way to contact you

Thank the reader for their time

Sincerely,

Your Name (sign if printing)
